DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of applicants' Information Disclosure Statement and Preliminary Amendment filed on February 12, 2002.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 12-14 provide for the use of flasks, syringes and perfusion bags to preserve a pharmaceutical preparation, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claims 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

Art Unit: 1615

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ibrahim et al. (US 5716988) in combination with Schilpalius (US 5897871) or Blackshear et al. (US 4439181). Ibrahim teaches a solution of oxaliplatinum and water for administration through injection or infusion (Col. 2, lines 9-19). The concentration of the oxaliplatinum is from 1 to 5 mg/ml (Col. 2, lines 9-19). The solution can be sealed in a vial infusion pouch, an ampoule or carried in an injection micropump (Col. 2, lines 54-63). The method of preparation is recited in Example 1 at Col. 3. Ibrahim does not expressly teach the exact concentration for the oxaliplatinum nor does the reference teach other solvents for the solution.

Schilpalius and Blackshear each teach that active agents can be in solution with glycerol and can be administered by injection or infusion (Col. 7, Claims 1-5; and Col. 3, line 15 – Col. 14, line 36, respectively).

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to use a suitable solvent to prepare injection or infusion solution for administration that include oxaliplatinum and glycerol in differing concentrations.

While the reference does not teach the complete concentration range, differences in concentration will not support the patentability of subject matter encompassed by the prior art unless there is evidence indicating such concentration or temperature is critical. Where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation. In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955). The Examiner does not see the criticality in the particular concentrations for oxaliplatinum compound. The prior art teaches the compound to have the same activity in a concentration close of the claimed concentration. Any difference is a matter of degree and not of kind.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this to prepare a pharmaceutically active solution that implements a solution that is non-toxic, is a normal component of human and animal tissues and plasma, and maintains the fluidity of the solution without loss of the biological activity.

Therefore, the invention as a whole would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.
